What were the Fund costs for the last year?

(based on a hypothetical $10,000 investment)

Class	Costs of a $10,000 Investment	Costs Paid as a Percentage of a $10,000 Investment
Advisor Class	$150.72	1.24%

How did the Fund perform during the reporting period?

The Horizon Multi-Factor Small/Mid Fund is actively managed, selecting and weighting securities using a proprietary quantitative approach to allocate the Fund’s portfolio between issuers, sectors, and/or factors (e.g. value, momentum, quality, and volatility). This process is designed to be defensive in nature in order to help the Fund navigate volatile market swings. For the year ending November 30, 2024, the Fund’s tilt toward stocks with both lower valuations and above average measures of profitability was rewarded relative to the broad small- and mid-cap universe.

The Fund is expected to outperform the S&P 1000 Index in a down market and underperform in an up market, while realizing less volatility across all market environments. Small- and mid-cap equities posted strong but choppy returns during the period. Given that market backdrop, the Fund outperformed expectations in terms of returns.

The Fund’s approach seeks diversification across styles and characteristics to construct a balanced portfolio. Lower levels of market concentration in the small- and mid-cap space favored the Fund’s more diversified and balanced positioning, while the Fund’s portfolio construction process resulted in lower volatility than the S&P 1000 Index.
